We were unable to get the university course going due to a lack of interest and not enough support from the university. However, we managed to deliver 10 Street2Boardroom workshops at a secure unit for young people who have been involved in the crime justice system. Each workshop had 4 young people. We also managed to deliver talks in Bristol and Cardiff. A new website and more social media awareness.
Can you describe and/or demonstrate the specific impact that TFN funding has had against your initial objectives?	The young people at the secure unit felt that Street2Boardroom spoke their language. They felt that Street2Boardroom was authentic and different. Most of the young people could understand the ethos of Street2Boardroom, but more information understood they had transferable skills.
